

Customer Personnel Training

Thoroughly trained and motivated personnel will raise the quality standard that you achieve in utilizing Buhler plant and equipment and will ensure your long-term success. Would you like to increase your employees' level of training to the latest standards in maintenance and process mastery in the field of "Grinding and Dispersion"? For this purpose, Buhler offers you various training courses in its own Training Center. In a group of five persons and more, training can be tailored to your specific requirements.

Buhler scope of supply:

The Buhler course instructors will train your employees in theoretical and practical programs. This training will help you achieve optimal operation and maintenance of your production systems.

We offer the following courses:

a) Subjects:

- Mechanical or electrical maintenance
- Product technology
- Plant and equipment control

b) Customized courses (5 persons and more):

- Basic theoretical training in equipment and technology
- Practical training in preventive maintenance
- Practical training in machine operation
- Touring of showcase plants

Investment in training pay offs

GD - 5.5.01

Your benefit:

Training or continuing education of your operating personnel in our Training Center will give your employees the extended and deepened knowledge they need to ensure optimal operation and efficient utilization of your processing systems.

Price upon request

Training or continuing education of your employees offers you the following benefits:

- Higher plant capacity (better product yields, better quality) through sound process knowledge of your trained operating personnel
- Higher plant uptime through preventive maintenance
- Exchange of experience within the international Buhler network
- Optimal employment of your personnel through better process knowledge
- Longer life cycle of installations and equipment through correct operation